Important Notes and Statements

This Prospectus is dated 4 July 2008. A copy of this Prospectus was lodged with the ASIC on 4 July 2008. Neither ASIC nor ASX take any responsibility for the contents of this Prospectus.

No Employee Options will be allotted or issued on the basis of this Prospectus later than 13 months after the date of issue of this Prospectus. Employee Options issued pursuant to this Prospectus will be issued on the terms and conditions set out in this Prospectus.

An application for Employee Options will only be accepted on the relevant Application Form accompanying this Prospectus.

Key Definitions

Throughout this Prospectus, for ease of reading, various words and phrases have been defined rather than used in full on each occasion and are set out in Section 6 of this Prospectus.

Risk Factors

Persons to whom the Employee Options are offered under this Prospectus should read this Prospectus in its entirety, and in particular Section 3- Risk Factors.

The Company's business involves exploration for minerals. As such any investment in the Company is considered speculative. The Company has no income producing assets and its business prospects are contingent upon the success of its exploration activities and the raising of further capital if and when required in order to continue exploration activities.

In particular it should be noted that the Company's projects include exploration prospects for uranium. Current Western Australian State Government policy prohibits mining of uranium in Western Australia. The Australian Labor Party State Government was re-elected on 26 February 2005 for another 4 year term and has publicly stated that this policy will remain in force during their term.

- Pursuant to this Prospectus, the Company is offering to the following Eligible Persons, a total of 880,000 Employee Options (divided amongst the Eligible Persons in the proportions set out in Table 1) with each Option giving the holder the right to subscribe for one Share in the Company at the Exercise Price with an Expiry Date of 30 November 2012 subject to earlier expiry in certain circumstances.

The terms and conditions of the Employee Options are set out in Section 4.4 of this Prospectus. The expiry date for the Employee Options or some of them may be decreased in the manner and in the circumstances specified in the terms and conditions of the Employee Options as set out in Section 4.4. The Employee Options are offered in accordance with Desert Energy Limited Employee Option Plan and accordingly the Employee Options are also governed by the rules of such plan a full copy of which appears towards the end of this Prospectus.

There is no minimum subscription of the Issue and the Issue will proceed irrespective of how many of the offers are accepted. As the Employee Options are to be issued for nil consideration, no funds will be raised by the Issue and therefore in the event that some only of the Employee Options are issued will have no impact on the ability of the Company to carry out its proposed activities.

However, the Company will apply to the ASX for official quotation of the Shares allotted pursuant to the exercise of any of the Employee Options if the Company's Shares are listed on the ASX at that time.

A decision by ASX to grant official quotation of the Shares issued on the exercise of any of the Employee Options is not to be taken in any way as an indication of ASX's view as to the merits of the Company, or the Employee Options now offered or the Shares issued on the exercise of any of the Employee Options.

No Employee Options will be allotted or issued on the basis of this Prospectus later than 13 months after the date of issue of this Prospectus.

1.8 Overseas Investors

The Company also reserves the right not to proceed with the Issue at any time prior to the granting of the Employee Options.

1.10 Underwriting

The offer of Employee Options pursuant to this Prospectus is not underwritten.

Section 2 EFFECT OF THE ISSUE ON THE COMPANY

2.1 Principal Effects

If the maximum number of Employee Options is granted, the principal effect on the Company is that it will grant a total of 880,000 Employee Options. The total number of Options on issue will increase from the current 35,406,700 to 36,286,700 (assuming none of the current Options on issue are exercised in the meantime). The total percentage of unexercised Options over issued Shares in the Company will be 44.1% of the presently issued capital. No funds will be received by the Company for the issue of the Employee Options.

The market price of the Company's Shares during the period of the Employee Options will normally determine whether or not the holder exercises the Employee Options. At the time any Employee Options are exercised, and Shares issued pursuant to the exercise of the Employee Options, the Company's Shares may be trading on the ASX at a price which is higher or lower than the exercise price of the Employee Options.

If the maximum number of Employee Options is granted and all such Employee Options are eventually exercised, the issued share capital of the Company will increase by 880,000 and the Company will raise capital in an amount determined by the Exercise Price for the Employee Options.

2.2 Capital Structure and Statement of Financial Position

Section 3 RISK FACTORS

3.1 Introduction

Exploration and mining companies throughout the world are subject to the inherent risks of the minerals industry.

Investors should be aware that an investment in the Company (and its subsidiaries) involves a number of risks. Intending investors should read the whole of this section; the Companies ASX Announcements (including the Desert Energy Prospectus); and the Company's website including the Sustainability Section in order to fully appreciate such matters and the manner in which the Company intends to operate, before any decision is made to trade in the Company's securities.

The following summary, which is not exhaustive, lists some of the major risk factors, of which potential investors need to be aware.

For more information on the risks including Native Title matters, land access, environmental legislation, financing or other risks associated with exploration and mining, there is extensive information on the Company's website and interested parties and potential investors should read these and in its ASX announcements.

Companies operating in Australia are subject to the relevant laws in those jurisdictions.

These include, in the case of the Western Australian tenements;

- the Western Australian Mining Act 1978,
- the Commonwealth Government Native Title Act; and
- the relevant State and Federal environmental and occupational health and safety legislation;
- Mining tenements in Western Australia are also subject to statutory requirements of certain other Acts including the Aboriginal Heritage Act 1972, Environmental Protection Act 1971, Rights in Water and Irrigation Act 1914 and Conservation and Land Management Act 1984.

3.2 Summary

The future viability and profitability of the Company as an exploration and mining company will depend on a number of factors, including:

3.2.1 Tenements

- Risks associated with obtaining the grant of any or all of the Company's mining tenements or permits which are applications, or renewal of tenements upon expiry of their current term, including the grant of subsequent titles where applied for over the same ground;
- Generally the grant or refusal of tenements is subject to ministerial discretion and there is no certainty that the tenements applied for will be granted;

- Applications are also subject to additional processes and requirements under the Native Title Act;
- No legal or equitable interest in or affecting an exploration licence application can be transferred or dealt with while it is at the application stage;
- Following grant, no legal or equitable interest in or affecting a granted exploration licence can be transferred or otherwise dealt with during the first year of its term without the prior written consent of the relevant Western Australian Government minister ("Minister");
- The Company's ability to mine, in the event that exploration on an exploration tenement owned by the Company, or in which the Company has an interest, results in an economic deposit being discovered. The grant or refusal of production tenements is generally subject to ministerial discretion and there is no certainty that a production tenement will be granted;
- Any mining lease granted in Western Australia would be currently subject to a prohibition on uranium mining.

3.2.2 Native Title and Heritage Matters

- Tenement applications and granted tenements are subject to the processes and requirements of the Native Title Act;
- Any application for a production tenement may be subject to the right to negotiate process under the Native Title Act in which case the grant of a valid tenement may require either the successful negotiation of an agreement with the native title claimants or holders or alternatively a successful application to the National Native Title Tribunal that the production tenement be granted.;
- The right to negotiate process under Native Title matters can result in significant delays to the implementation of any exploration or mining or stall it or could result in an inability to obtain the grant of the tenement at all;
- Negotiated native title agreements may adversely impact on the economics of exploration or mining depending on the nature of any commercial terms agreed;
- Risks arising because of the rights of indigenous groups in jurisdictions in which the Company operates which may affect the Company's ability to gain access to prospective exploration areas and to obtain exploration titles and access, and to obtain production titles for mining if exploration is successful;
- If negotiations for such access are successful, compensation may be necessary in settling or otherwise coming to some sort of agreement regarding indigenous title claims lodged or heritage matters over any of the tenements held or acquired by the Company;
- The risks associated with being able to negotiate access to land, including by conducting heritage and environmental surveys, to allow for prospecting, exploration and mining, is time and capital consuming and may be over budget and is not guaranteed of success.

3.2.3 Personnel Availability

- In the very competitive environment of the current minerals boom, particularly in Western Australia, the availability and high cost of exploration and mining personnel, contractors and equipment for exploration and mining, and corporate and administration personnel and the cost of identifying, negotiating with and engaging the same and keeping them, is an important issue affecting exploration companies and can lead to significant delays in conducting exploration and mining activities.

3.2.4 Environmental

- Environmental management issues which may need to be complied with from time to time. There are very substantive legislative and regulatory regimes with which companies need to comply for land access, exploration and mining which can lead to significant delays.

3.2.5 Weather and Access

- Many of the Company's projects are in remote areas and are subject to access and weather issues;
- Poor access to exploration areas as a result of remoteness or difficult terrain;
- Poor weather conditions over a prolonged period which might adversely affect mining and exploration activities and the timing of earning revenues. This varies from high temperatures in summer, cyclones or alternatively very wet periods, each of which can disrupt or curtail exploration for considerable periods.

3.2.6 Repairs

- Unforeseen major failures, breakdowns or repairs required to key items of exploration equipment and vehicles, mining plant and equipment or mine structure resulting in significant delays, notwithstanding regular programs of repair, maintenance and upkeep.

3.2.7 Government Policy and Legislation

- The risk of material adverse changes in the government policies or legislation of Australia affecting the level and practicality of mining and exploration activities.

3.3 Further Information

Risks inherent in exploration and mining including, among other things, successful exploration and identification of ore reserves, satisfactory performance of mining operations if a mineable deposit is discovered and competent management.

3.4 Uranium Mining – Australian Government Regulation and Policy

Uranium mining in Australia is subject to extensive regulation by Commonwealth and State Governments in relation to exploration, development, production, exports, taxes and royalties, labour standards, occupational health, waste disposal, protection and rehabilitation of the environment, mine reclamation, mine safety, toxic and radioactive substances, native title and other matters. Accordingly, the approval processes for uranium mining are more rigorous than for the mining of other metals, due to the need to comply with such laws and regulations. Compliance with such laws and regulations will increase the costs of exploring, drilling, developing, constructing, operating and closing mines and other production facilities. Further, there is a risk that, should economic deposits be discovered, the necessary government approvals may not be granted, or may be significantly delayed.

Although Western Australia currently has no legislation that prohibits uranium mining, there is a State Government policy prohibiting uranium mining. All mining leases granted since 22 June 2002 have been issued subject to a condition prohibiting the mining of uranium. While this does not restrict the Company exploring and evaluating its uranium prospects, the development of any discovered uranium deposits will be contingent upon a change of Western Australia State Government policy in relation to uranium production. There can be no assurance that the policy will change in the future and this may adversely affect the long-term prospects of the Company.

3.5 Land Access

In 2006-2007 a large number of the Company's Western Australian EL's were applied for. A significant number of these are now granted, and the remainder are the subject of native title claimant objections.

The Company closely monitors the progress of its tenement applications and the Company has engaged a tenement Eligible Person to assist with the process from the outset.

Delays to the grant of tenements of more than 12 months can occur if objections are lodged, under either the Mining Act or Native Title Act.

Native title objections to exploration tenements are usually avoided if an applicant and an affected native title claimant/holder sign a standard heritage agreement, which facilitates the future survey and protection of heritage sites in areas of ground disturbing activities. However, many claimants appear to have moved away from supporting this process and in the areas affected by their claims, it is expected that delays in the granting of applications, and in conducting heritage surveys, might be experienced.

3.6 Heritage Surveys

Aboriginal site clearances are generally not required for low impact activities such as the soil and rock chips sampling and airborne geophysical surveys, which the Company is currently focused on.

To ensure that that it does not contravene legislation while carrying out drilling on its tenements, the Company understands it would generally need to conduct Aboriginal heritage surveys to determine if any Aboriginal sites exist within the area of the drilling. If so, the Company would also need to ensure that any interference with such Aboriginal sites is in conformity with the provisions of the above WA Aboriginal Heritage Act and the Commonwealth Heritage Act.

In order to achieve outcomes in accordance with heritage agreements in areas it wishes to conduct drilling, the Company is and will be reliant on the timely, efficient and reasonable co-operation of the relevant Aboriginal persons with connections to the relevant land (often the Native Title claimants for the area) and those who represent them.

3.7 Environmental Risk

The Company's projects are subject to stringent laws and regulations regarding environmental matters, which means there are potential liability risks and potential delays in gaining access for exploration or mining. The Company proposes to operate in accordance with applicable laws and conduct its programmes in a responsible manner with proper regard to the environment.

The approval processes for uranium mining are more rigorous than for the mining of other metals, as both Commonwealth and State Government legislation needs to be satisfied. There is a risk that, should economic deposits be discovered, the necessary government approvals may not be granted, or may be significantly delayed.

3.8 Exploration and Development Capital

Exploration will reduce the cash reserves of the Company. The Company may be dependent on seeking exploration capital elsewhere, through equity raisings, debt, spin offs or joint venture financing, to support long term exploration and evaluation of its projects. In the event that an economic deposit is discovered, the ability to exploit such a deposit is likely to be subject to the Company's ability to raise the necessary development finance through equity raisings, debt, spin offs or joint venture financings. The Company cannot provide any guarantees that such finance for exploration, or for mining will be available to the Company at such time in the future as it may require and this could lead to the loss of tenements.

3.9 Liquidity and Realisation Risks

There can be no guarantee that an active market in Securities will develop or that the price of Securities will increase. Moreover, there may be relatively few buyers or a relatively high number of sellers of the Securities on the ASX at any given time, which may increase not only the volatility of the market price of the Securities but also the prevailing price at which the Shareholders can sell their Securities. This may result in Shareholders receiving a market price for their Securities that is less than the price paid for their Securities.

3.10 Sharemarket Conditions

The price of the Company's shares quoted on the ASX is influenced by international and domestic factors or even on a day to day basis by individual investor's decisions to buy or sell the Company's securities.

Should these produce a negative effect on the share price, this may also affect the Company's ability to raise development capital.

3.11 General Economic Factors and Investment Risks

General economic conditions may affect inflation and interest rates, which in turn may impact upon the Company's operating costs and financing. Other factors that may adversely affect the Company's activities in Australia or overseas include changes in government policies, natural disasters, industrial disputes, and social unrest or war on a local or global scale and commodity prices and exchange rates, which are constantly changing.

3.12 Speculative Nature of Investment

The above list of risk factors ought not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by the Company or by investors in the Company. The above factors, and others not specifically referred to above, may in the future materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of the Company's securities.

Therefore, the Company's securities carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of those securities.

Potential investors should consider that investment in the Company is speculative and should consult their professional advisers before deciding whether to trade in the Company's securities.

3.13 Unforeseeable Risks

There are likely to be risks that the Directors and the Company and its advisors are unaware of or do not fully appreciate at any point in time. Over time or with the benefit of hindsight these sometimes become apparent. Such risks may be related to legislation, regulation, business conditions, land access, personnel or equipment availability, conflicts and disputes at a local or international level, data issues and a variety of other unforeseen eventualities.

3.14 Forward Looking Statements

Forward-Looking Statements are statements included herein, including regarding future ability to finance projects and other statements that express management's expectations or estimates regarding the timing of completion of various aspects of the projects' development or of our future performance.

The words "believe", "expect", "anticipate", "contemplate", "target", "plan", "intends", "continue", "budget", "estimate", "may", "will", "schedule", and similar expressions identify forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements are necessarily based upon a number of estimates and assumptions that, while considered reasonable by management, are inherently subject to significant business, economic and competitive uncertainties and contingencies.

In particular, the Company's announcements and presentations include many such forward-looking statements and such forward- looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors that may cause the actual financial results, performance or achievements of Desert Energy to be materially different from its estimated future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by those forward- looking statements and its forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance.

These risks, uncertainties and other factors are included in the Risk Factors section above, and in the 2007 Desert Energy Limited Prospectus available on the Company's and ASX websites.

The Company expressly disclaims any present intention or obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements whether as a result of new information, events or otherwise, except where required by law.

(b) Issue Price and Exercise price

Each Employee Option is issued for nil consideration.

Each Employee Option shall entitle the optionholder to acquire one fully paid ordinary share in the capital of the Company upon exercise and payment of an exercise price equal to $0.35 a Share (“the Exercise Price”).

(c) Expiry date

Subject to the provisions herein which provide for Employee Options to lapse earlier in certain circumstances, the Employee Options will expire on the Expiry Date.

(d) Certificate

A certificate will be issued for the Employee Options and sent to the optionholder together with the terms and conditions of the Employee Options and a written notice that is to be completed when exercising Employee Options.

(e) Employee Options not listed

The Employee Options will not be listed for official quotation on the ASX.

(f) Employee Options not transferable

The Employee Options are not transferable except with the consent of the Board or as permitted in clause 14.5 of the Plan.

The Employee Options may be exercised in one or more lots in multiples of 10,000 on different occasions during the Exercise Period for those Employee Options. Within 5 business days of receipt of the “Exercise Notice” and Employee Option certificates and payment of the “Exercise Price”, the Company will allot the corresponding number of fully paid ordinary shares to the optionholder, procure the issue a statement of holding for the shares and apply for the shares to be listed on the stock exchanges on which the Company is listed. The shares issued as a result of exercise of the Employee Options shall rank equally in all respects with the other issued fully paid shares in the Company.

(h) New share issue

If the Employee Options are exercised before the record date of an entitlement, the optionholder can participate in a pro rata issue to the holders of the underlying securities in the Company. The Company must notify the optionholder of the proposed issue at least 9 business days before the record date. Optionholders do not have a right to participate in new share issues without exercising their Employee Options in accordance with Listing Rule 6.19.

(i) Bonus Issue

If, from time to time, before the expiry of the Options the Company makes a pro rata issue of Shares to Shareholders for no consideration, the number of Shares over which the Options are exercisable will be increased by the number of Shares which the optionholder would have received if the Option had been exercised before the record date for calculating entitlements to the pro rata issue.

(j) Reorganisations

In the event of any reorganization of the issued capital of the Company, the Employee Options will be reorganized by the Company in accordance with the Listing Rules (including without limitation by the Company changing the number or exercise price for the Employee Options in such manner as may be required by the Listing Rules.)

(k) Change of Employee Option's exercise price or the number of underlying securities

(i) In the event that a pro rata issue (except a bonus issue) is made to the holders of the underlying securities in the Company, the exercise price of the Employee Options may be reduced according to the following formula:

N = the Number of securities with rights or entitlements that must be held to receive a right to one new security in the Company.

Options the number of shares received by the optionholder will include the number of bonus shares that would have been issued if the Employee Options had been exercised prior to the record date for bonus issues. The exercise price of the Employee Options shall not change as result of any such bonus issue.

(l) Dividends

The Employee Options carry no entitlement to participate in dividends until shares are allotted pursuant to the exercise of the Employee Options.

In relation to each Relevant Person, the period from the date of issue of the Employee Options to such person or Nominee until the First Exercise Date is deemed a minimum period for the purposes of clause 14.3a) of the Plan such that if the Relevant Person ceases to be classified as an Eligible Person during such period all Employee Options issued to that Relevant Person or Nominee will lapse such that none of those Employee Options will be exercisable.

The Shares underlying the Employee Options to be issued pursuant to this Prospectus will rank equally in all respects with existing Shares in the Company.

The Company has one class of shares on issue, being fully paid ordinary shares in the capital of the Company.

The rights attaching to Shares in the Company are:

- set out in the Constitution of the Company, a copy of which is available for inspection during normal business hours at the registered business office of the Company; and
- in certain circumstances, regulated by the Corporations Act, the Listing Rules, the ASTC Settlement Rules and the general law.

The following is a broad summary (though not necessarily an exhaustive or definitive statement) of the rights attaching to Shares in the Company as set out in the Constitution.

(a) Voting Rights

Every holder of shares present in person or by proxy, attorney or representative at a meeting of shareholders has one vote on a vote taken by a show of hands, and, on a poll every holder of shares who is present in person or by proxy, attorney or representative has one vote for every fully paid share held by him or her, and a proportionate vote for every partly paid share, registered in such shareholder's name on the Company's share register.

A poll may be demanded by the chairperson of the meeting, by any 5 shareholders present in person or by proxy, attorney or representative, or by any one or more shareholders who are together entitled to not less than 5% of the total voting rights of, or paid up value of, the shares of all those shareholders having the right to vote at that meeting.

(b) Dividend Rights

Dividends are payable out of the Company's profits and are declared by the Directors.

(c) Transfer of Shares

A shareholder may transfer shares by a market transfer in accordance with any computerised or electronic system established or recognised by the ASX or the Corporations Act for the purpose of facilitating transfers in shares or by an instrument in writing in a form approved by the ASX or in any other usual form or in any form approved by the Directors. Regulation 24 of the Company's constitution requires that the Company comply with the Listing Rules. The Listing Rules contain a number of provisions dealing with transfers of Shares.

Listing Rule 8.1 requires the Company as a listed entity to comply with the operating rules of the ASTC Settlement Rules in relation to any of its shares which are CHESSE Approved securities.

Listing Rule 8.10 generally prohibits the Company from preventing, delaying or interfering with the registration of a transfer document dealing with quoted securities. There are a few limited exceptions to this rule, for example where the Company has a lien on the shares, or the company is served with a court order restricting transfer or where transfer would breach an Australian law.

The Directors of the Company may refuse to register any transfer of shares, other than a market transfer, where the Company is permitted or required to do so by the Listing Rules or the SCH Business Rules.

(d) Future Issues

Subject to the Listing Rules the Directors have the right to grant to any person options or other securities with rights of conversion to shares or pre-emptive rights to any shares for any consideration and for any stock.

(e) Variation of Rights

If at any time the share capital is divided into different classes of shares, the rights attached to any class may (unless otherwise provided by the terms of issue of the shares of that class), whether or not the Company is being wound up, be varied or abrogated in any way with the consent in writing of the holders of three quarters of the issued shares of that class, or with the sanction of a special resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of the shares of that class. Any variation is subject to section 246B and 246E of the Corporations Act.

(f) Liquidation Rights

The Company has only issued one class of shares, which all rank equally in the event of liquidation. Once all the liabilities of the Company are satisfied, a liquidator may, with the authority of a special resolution of shareholders divide the whole or any part of the remaining assets of the Company. The liquidator can with the sanction of a special resolution of the Company's shareholders vest the whole or any part of the assets in trust for the benefit of shareholders as the liquidator thinks fit, but no shareholder of the Company can be compelled to accept any shares or other securities in respect of which there is any liability.

(g) Meetings and Notice

Each shareholder is entitled to receive notice of and to attend general meetings for the Company and to receive all notices, accounts and other documents required to be sent to shareholders under the Constitution of the Company, the Corporations Act or the Listing Rules.

(h) Shareholder Liability

Any sum unpaid on a Share must be paid on the date on which it is payable under the terms of the issue of that Share.

Subject to compliance with the requirements of the Corporations Act, the Listing Rules and the original terms of issue of the Shares, the Directors may make calls upon the member in respect of any money unpaid on their Shares, make a call payable by instalments and revoke or postpone a call before the due date for payment. While the Company is a listed company, calls must be made in accordance with the Listing Rules. The Company must give a member on whom a call has been made written notice of the call within the time limits and in the form required by the Listing Rules. If a call is not paid before or on the day specified for payment, the Directors may require the member liable for the call to pay interest on the sum from and including the day for payment to the time of actual payment at the rate, not exceeding 20% per annum, determined by the Directors.
